The Santa Clara Speech and Debate Club, in conjunction with the Santa Clara University Debate team, will be hosting its annual Debate Workshop on Thursday through Sunday, August 2-5, 2018. The Workshop offers high school and middle school debaters a chance to work and learn in a University setting with full access to Santa Clara's research and library resources in an advanced or novice track. We are pleased to announce that we're offering instruction and preparation in novice and intermediate Lincoln-Douglas, Policy, Public Forum and Parliamentary formats of debate.

As in the past, Mariel Cruz, assistant debate director at Santa Clara University, along with Ryan Wallace from CSU East Bay and Christina Owyang from UC Davis, Steven Clemmons from Oregon will supervise the program along with members of the SCU Debate Team.

Classes will include lectures on the national topics, affirmative and negative strategies, topicality and stock issues, rebuttal strategies, and research techniques for all CHSSA/NSDA debate formats. The workshop emphasizes small group education through the use of debate labs led by an experienced debater to manage tournament preparation and research.

The workshop will also feature expert guest lectures on debate theory and announced debate topics (LD, PoFo and Policy). The schedule will allow time for supervised practice rounds and ample research, as well as access to the university library and computer resources. Evidence sets and briefs on the national topic will be supplied to every workshop participant in those events with selected topics. All students will have full access to the internet and internet based resources at SCU.

We will pair partners for policy, parliamentary, and public forum debate based on requests and their level of competition. All our faculty that have either taught at our program before or actively coach debate programs. College debaters from Stanford, USC and San Jose State will also be assisting to critique our debaters and will be judging the tournament competition along with former top debate alums. Students do not need to have a designated or preferred partner for team events to participate in the workshop.

Registration and Fees

Tuition for four days of instruction and tournament competition will be $150 per student. Adults, coaches, and parents may come for $25 per day. To register, complete the following form, and send it along with your check payable to "Santa Clara Debate" to the address below. Please make sure you put Communication Department on the envelope.
