Dec 6 - 6, 2015

JUDGING RULES

Go to the room listed on top of this ballot. * Before the round starts, tell the debaters what prior judging experience you have. Do not interrupt any speech or give comments before the round is over. * Do not leave the room during the round. Do not consult with anyone else while making your decision. * Please write down all arguments made by the debaters. Please be sure the competitors in the room match the ones on your ballot and they are speaking on the correct side.

LINCOLN-DOUGLAS JUDGING GUIDE

- Computers and printed evidence/materials can be used in round. Internet cannot be used.
- RESOLUTION: In the United States criminal justice system, jury nullification ought to be used in the face of perceived injustice.
- The first speech on each side is a constructive and should be used to present the case for/against the resolution. The Neg should also use its constructive to respond to the Aff case.
- THE LAST THREE SPEECHES SHOULD NOT CONTAIN ANY NEW ARGUMENTS but instead should be used to make refutations and summarize the round. The very last Aff speech is not allowed any new refutations or arguments unless addressing a new response made by the Neg in their last speech.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

- Neg more thoroughly refuted opponent's contentions, using clear evidence and logic
- Neg won on voting issues
- Neg won an value-criterion debate
- Aff addressed many of opponent's contentions/VC ~~clarity~~ in 2AR, did not give neg time to respond so these ~~are~~ new arguments are not counted
- Neg did not <sup>really refute</sup> address aff's C3 (confidentiality), but aff did not bring up after 1AC

Point Scale:

Assign speaker points to each debater individually based on how well that debater spoke. Mark "Low point win" if you assign to the winning debater fewer points than to the losing debater. Decimals (e.g. 27.4) are allowed.

Winner: AB Vince Feliciano debating on the Neg Side (Aff or Neg) Low point win? No

Signature: Tara Sadjadpour

Comments & Reason for Decision: Neg did a better job defending his own case & effectively used his blocks to counter Aff evidence. Aff had a good case that was stronger on many ways but she didn't defend it very well in her rebuttals.

AFF

Ado = 13-19

- * cannot focus on mentally ill
- V: quality of life
- VC: max. autonomy

C1: ado competency

C2: confidentiality

1AR: <sup>Neg</sup> dropped Hastings study

Contradicted own case b/c called ado. & adults incompetent

2AR: PP is free so b/c ado. don't need to go to parents for many things

* Don't decide NEG's burdens

- Pros
- good evidence for contention
  - relevant & explicitly supports contentions
  - good impacts; well-written case
  - good blocks in rebuttals

- Cons
- Talks too fast
  - Need to answer cross-ex questions w/ looking at papers
  - ask better q's in cross-ex that show flaws in Neg case
  - need to be more fluent
  - time management - overtime
  - forgot voting issues

NEG

Ado = 13-19

- V: justice
- VC: protecting rt. to life
- more specific def. of med. auto.

C1: ado incompetency

NC rebuttals: - counterarg. - no true confidentiality

NR: - Aff doesn't consider long-term consequences & emotional tendencies (e.g. risk-taking)
 - Aff doesn't show impacts in big picture
 - Aff dropped neg args.

Pros

- Asked good cross-ex q's BUT
- good blocks in rebuttals
- fluent speaking
- well-written case
- very logical, strong pts.
- shows flaws in aff case (e.g. hypothetical experiment)
- good voting issues

Cons

- ~~use full~~ use full cross-ex time
- take advantage of this time completely instead of leaving 1 min.
- undertime in general
- give eye contact to judge

Comments & Reason for Decision: Neg did a better job responding to the opponent's contentions and defending her own; she was also very confident, had better vocal variation, and made stronger, more logical argument. Aff did make some good points but didn't properly expand on them and he lacked evidence.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

Aff :46

- give citation for def, esp. adolescent ages
- good parental abuse cards
- good line of questioning on adults v. adolescents
- good adult refutation, good second contention, attack, 2nd contention good
- don't spend too much time on his case
- good rebuttal, but link to value

Neg

- look at me in CX
- don't put hands at face, or in pockets
- good relish attack
- time your speeches

Comments & Reason for Decision:

Aff

- Strong case w/ evidence
- Slightly monotone in constructive
- Good eye contact
- Good volume
- Overall good speaking
- Too much arguing with Neg during cross-ex
- Good job rebutting shared decision making counterplan
- Could do a better job with competency argument

Neg

- Strong cross-ex but focused on small ideas
- Strong case
- Quiet voice and needs more eye contact
- Overall good speaking but slow down slightly
- Strong rebuttal but needs to address individual points more clearly to further case
- Shared decision making is somewhat weak based on practicality
- Organized case rebuttal. Could slow down & emphasize impacts more.

I voted AFF because she better countered Neg's arguments throughout the round. Specifically she countered Neg's studies about competency, which was very important in helping her win the round. -Computers and printed evidence/materials can be used in round. Internet cannot be used.

-RESOLUTION: In the United States criminal justice system, jury nullification ought to be used in the face of perceived injustice.

-The first speech on each side is a constructive and should be used to present the case for/against the resolution. The Neg should also use its constructive to respond to the Aff case.

-THE LAST THREE SPEECHES SHOULD NOT CONTAIN ANY NEW ARGUMENTS but instead should be used to make refutations and summarize the round. The very last Aff speech is not allowed any new refutations or arguments unless addressing a new response made by the Neg in their last speech.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

AFF

→ You spoke very nicely, but a little fast and ended with lots of time in the end.
→ Good job bringing up that he contradicted himself with the definition of adolescents.

NEG

→ Be organized, I really enjoy that you have a lot of information. It affected you because you didn't know where your evidence was → last points in your rebuttal were very strong with the physicians exploiting them.

The neg won in the end because the points/impacts were stronger.

Comments & Reason for Decision: evidence is more up to date, refuted opponents claims very well

Govind - try to speak more smoothly good evidence
I liked your 3rd contention

Ganesh - try not to spread, many adult judges will not like that. Also, get better at refuting opponents claims.
Also, get more up-to-date evidence, most opponents will target that.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

Overall, excellent debate!

The main reason I chose negation was because her evidence was more valid, based on scientific data and she had stronger refutations. Here are some other comments & feedback to keep in mind for the future:

Both: - have more value/value criterion clash
- good CX, but try to keep your composure
- excellent speaking styles & argumentation
- good job calling out dropped arguments, but at the same time, try to refute more arguments as well

Aff: - consolidate your contentions a bit more
- good refutations!
- try not to concede to anything during CX
- if your opponent drops a contention, make sure to highlight the importance of it

Neg: - good CX, but keep composure
- "Chicken" & drug abuse - connect more to MEDICAL decisions
- remember to do rebuttal in first speech!
- "even w/ death" argument -> address this in your speech
- use more time in your last speech for voter's issues & V/C clash

Comments & Reason for Decision:

parents keep info from child
Aff: resist parent influence
Value: justice
U.C: utilitarianism

standards in medical care
- homeless youth
- don't have ability to talk to parents
- corrupt doctors

forcing causes noncompliance medically capable

- 400 physicians agree
- should not be singled out

→ room to ensure that it will be shared
NEG:
- autonomy won't change homelessness

just bc adolescents have emotions, don't make way decision because of these things logical reasons isn't fully tried to affect forcing on or another is not beneficial in S.P.M

① adolescents do not show capability
- susceptible to emotions/impulse
- cannot override these situations (depression, helplessness)
② brains aren't developed
- still developing every day

③ shared decision making model

Comments & Reason for Decision:

- Neg attacked Aff's evidence, but refutations did not address overall arguments of Aff
- Last speech for Aff was too short, but Aff constructive was strong (need to be more confident! :))
- Aff defended claims in second speech and connected evidence creatively to attack neg's args.
- Neg had strong evidence debate and good crystallization in final speech
- cross-examination needed more framework debate

↳ neg dropped the abuse arg. ↳ neg never addressed
- neg arg: poor-decision makers → aff refuted using "competency" evidence

Comments & Reason for Decision: Aff was factually backed and outmaneuvered his opponent's shoddy evidence.

Aff: you need to slow down just a bit.

- You did a really good job extending + explaining confidentiality
- I'm glad you made the rebuttal on legality. That was great
- your responses were well explained and made good eye contact.
- you kind of got quiet at some points. Try to maintain volume unless you're emphasizing something

Neg: I buy his definition because it's by law. biological is not always addressed, but they have rights to me that prove that the biological def is wrong.

- your responses were super muddled and unclear against his VVC and his not of Comments & Reason for Decision: Neg basically controlled the round after CX, Aff had no concrete responses to her arguments.

Aff speaks 5:25
- you need to have a better understanding of your evidence, she kept calling you out on how your studies were conducted, and you didn't know.

- studies make their conclusions based off of research. It seemed as though you were a bit confused on her point. Her evidence was not a study though, it was a survey.

- You argued against her study by using your own, explain why yours is better.

- It is inherently true that white middle class people are better off in every way, including performance in school.

Neg: your general study about pro financial literacy does not have every type of adolescent eating a sex sample size, is don't focus on his sample size.

- Don't focus too much on evidence: inf. on CX
- Slow down!!!!!!
- your case was 5 minutes long, try to cut it to 4 or 3:30
- you had good coverage of his points.
- Don't make faces during your opponent's speech/laugh in their CX. I docked 1 speaker point for this.
- The way you used it, your evidence about physiology knowing about adolescents was a survey, not a study.

Point Scale: There is always a sex sample size, is don't focus on his sample size.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

Aff case was strong
 ↳ didn't draw connection between how criterion supports value.

Neg case was also strong
 ↳ backing some evidence to support some claims.

Aff had one layer arguments in Rebuttal.
 ↳ did address all of opponents points.
 ↳ did turn opponents value criterion in his favor.

Aff sways due to nervousness but otherwise composed.
 Neg stuttered a bit.

Neg rebuttal has impact, successfully turns some of his points
 ↳ Really hits fatal point.

Aff is composed with voice but nervous posture and swaying.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

Aff constructive was strong with good connections to evidence.
 Aff didn't really lose ground during Cross X.
 Neg constructive was a little stronger → had connectors to value/criteria.
 Aff should be a little more organized to avoid long pauses during speeches.
 Neg controls round in value-criterion debate → should have multilayered arguments.
 -restates arguments still standing
 -connects back to cross X
 Udon't just use analysis in a way. (evidence)
 Aff brings up value criterion in last speech
 Aff was providing slightly more logical arguments
 Aff won a little on speaker points but controlled the round.
 Both will do well.

 Aff held ground with arguments which gave Aff the round.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

Great clash in the 2nd cx'ns. The back & forth about religion vs life was very good. All Neg arguments at the Aff were new in the 2- no new args allowed in 2nd. The arguments were quite persuasive, but unfortunately came too late.

Point Scale:

HOWEVER - despite evaluating round under Aff framework, I still think Neg won. Aff made args about abusive parents, Neg -> contention 3 said parents love their kids, but nobody told me which arguments mattered more, so I ended up evaluating the round on competency.

Speech Times:

I vote Neg on competency because:
a) I buy the arg that experience matters, most adults are experienced & capable
b) Aff's responses to Neg C1, C2 weren't responsive to the fundamental warrants. I was convinced that adolescents are risky, counter Neg C1/2 w/more short term thinkers.
c) Next time, perhaps Aff could counter Neg C1/2 w/more Aff studies.

- RESOLUTION: In the United States criminal justice system, jury nullification ought to be used in the face of perceived injustice.
- The first speech on each side is a constructive and should be used to present the case for/against the resolution. The Neg should also use its constructive to respond to the Aff case.
- THE LAST THREE SPEECHES SHOULD NOT CONTAIN ANY NEW ARGUMENTS but instead should be used to make refutations and summarize the round. The very last Aff speech is not allowed any new refutations or arguments unless addressing a new response made by the Neg in their last speech.

Comments & Reason for Decision:

I voted for the negative debater mainly on the issue of competency. The affirmative did not respond to the observation about all adolescents in the IAR, so the burden of the affirmative was to prove competency for all adolescents, and the negative made it clear that this was not the case. Barring the observation, ~~the~~ the main evidence on competency was the trader expense on the negative. Under either framework and from the observation, competency came 1st so I voted off of competency. The solutions of shared decision making and the mature minor doctrine were defended well on both sides, but did not make a huge difference in the decision of the round.

Comments:

Aff
 Good persuasive speaking
 Great framing of the round at the beginning of your 2nd speech
 You made strong arguments in response to many points and impacted them well.

Neg
 • Great job responding to all the arguments brought up in the round.
 • Very poised speaker
 • You covered the flow very efficiently and effectively

Point Scale:
 Assign speaker points to each debater individually based on how well that debater spoke. Mark "Low point win" if you assign to the winning debater fewer points than to the losing debater. Decimals (e.g. 27.4) are allowed.
 25 = minimum
 27 = average
 30 = maximum

Comments & Reason for Decision:

I voted for the negative debater because she won the issue of competency. I evaluated the round under the negative's framework with the VC of maximizing long-term welfare because the framework went unanswered in the round. While the affirmative debater defended well against the evidence about driving, not enough work was done with regards to the brain study evidence, which is why the negative debater won competency. The only other arguments present are those related to sick parents and orphans, and the negative successfully outweighed these impacts.

Point Scale:

Aff

- You took points made by the negative debater and used them against her which is very good
- You made very strategic arguments in many spots on the flow
- Your organization in your speeches was good

Neg

- Great job addressing the framework debate
- You're a poised speaker and your points were made well
- Great job telling me which arguments were important in the end
